It is a privilege to receive such a generous contribution from the Brown family. On behalf of our entire organization, we extend our sincere gratitude to Renata Brown and her family for their support, which enables us to sustain the legacy of Lt. Henry O. Flipper, (who was the first African American to graduate from West point Military Academy) and CSM (Ret) Curtis L. Brown, (Who was the first African American to be promoted to the highest enlisted rank in the US Army of Sergeant Major). We also wish to express our appreciation to Duwan M. Mason Sr., Paul Maggitt, and Billy Mikels, for facilitating this meaningful connection with our organization. Thank you all that was in attendance tonight for this momentous event.

Had a great morning at the range today! We ran through pistol and rifle practice. We got those rifle sights dialed in, and everyone was hitting steel at 150 meters with ease. Big thanks to our instructors Bobby and James, to our newest member Fernando for helping out with the sights, and to everyone who came out to put in the work.

Oh and we don't just shoot together, we break bread together.

When to Introduce Your Child to Guns

There is no single “perfect” age to introduce your child to firearms — the key is maturity, readiness, and safety first

. Many experts, including the NRA and firearms safety organizations, recommend starting as soon as your child is old enough to potentially handle a gun if you’re not looking

. This could be as early as preschool if they are curious and you can teach them the basics, but it’s far more effective to begin when they are developmentally ready.
